

McMahon Group Acknowledges Exemplary Staff

2014

Every year the entire McMahon Group staff takes a moment to review the past year and celebrate the achievements of its various departments and the company overall. McMahon Group's print and digital properties enjoyed significant successes during 2014, often advancing in both readership and revenues.

The following employees were singled out as exemplary at this year's annual celebration. We thank them, and we thank our readers for their continued enthusiasm for our medical journalism, which has made many of our publications the best read in their specialty.

SUPPORT/ART/PRODUCTION/IT/FINANCE

This award is for a commingled group of several vital departments within the company, without any one of which the company would not thrive, and as such there are two recipients of this award.

MARTIN BARBIERI is the production manager for several of the company's newsmagazines—a complicated task, which he accomplishes seamlessly month after month.

SUPPORT/ART/PRODUCTION/IT/FINANCE

KWANGHEE CHUNG is senior lead developer in the IT Department, having input in all things digital, including our various websites, internal content management systems, and apps, to name a few.

EDITOR OF THE YEAR

This award is for the outstanding editor among the publication, copy and projects editorial staffs.

KEVIN HORTY won for his editorial direction of General Surgery News, the best-read publication in general surgery. His contributions have included an important effort to enhance our Web-based video offerings.

SALES ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

MATTHEW SPOTO is senior account manager for Gastroenterology & Endoscopy News, the best-read publication in gastroenterology. This award celebrates creative thinking to enhance sales and customer service.

SALESPERSON OF THE YEAR

RICHARD TUORTO, the senior group publication director for Anesthesiology News and Pain Medicine News, both of which are the best-read publications in their fields, earned this award for the ninth year in a row for generating the most revenue in the calendar year.

THE MCMAHON GROUP PARTNERS' AWARD

ROSANNE MCMAHON is a partner and co-founder of the company and the wife of CEO Ray McMahon. For many years she was personally involved in financial oversight, but nowadays she continues to do what she has done expertly from the very beginning: supporting the CEO and family members working at the company!

THE MCMAHON GROUP PERSON OF THE YEAR

RICHARD TUORTO, this year's Salesperson of the Year, was voted Person of the Year by McMahon Group employees for his long-standing excellence in both sales and publication management.